december 2010 newsletter

following a relatively quiet year we were delighted that 2010 was a busy one with several commercial projects on the drawing board. the potential move to port melbourne was shelved earlier this year when we were able to renegotiate the lease for the office at queen street – the downtime required for packing/unpacking could then be devoted to pressing (and far more interesting!) project work.....

commercial office fitout for nacap australia pty ltd

in 2006 we designed the fitout for nacap australia pty ltd at blackburn. a projected increase in business and staff numbers in 2010 meant that a new premises would be required.....the new site was located at 601 doncaster road. the client appointed A1 office fitouts, who had also done the previous building works at blackburn, as the head contractor, and additional furniture was supplied by schiavello's and living edge. many thanks to fellow interior designer kate hart for her assistance with the documentation.

south yarra townhouse

we started design work on this project in late 2005 and on receipt of the planning permit, completed the documentation in early 2007. assistance from architect ingrid mountford with the documentation was greatly appreciated. after some delays with the building works the transformation of this dark 70's townhouse was finally completed earlier this year..... worth waiting for we think! a few new windows, skylights and concealed lighting have made a significant difference to the feel of this home.
